

Meet the Board

Linda Triolo

As chair of the membership committee, Linda Triolo wants to focus on welcoming new members, engaging current members, and growing Evergreen members. Originally from New Jersey, she graduated from Fairleigh Dickinson University with a BS degree in accounting. She became a CPA and worked her entire career in public accounting at both a large national firm and large regional firm, where she became a partner when women were a minority in the profession. She and her husband spend their time between their home in Island Club and the Jersey shore. They have four children and seven grandchildren. They belong to Vero Beach Country Club where golf, mahjong, and parties are the order of business. Linda is no stranger to giving circles and not-for-profit boards. When a friend introduced her to Impact 100, she was involved with Women United in Philanthropy in NJ. Impact 100's model is similar so she saw it as a perfect fit. She's proud to be associated with strong, like-minded women who care about their community and an organization that makes an extraordinary impact on the community in which we live.
